Morale booster pays off big

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Terry Russell had to check the number three times before she even allowed herself to think it might be true.

Then she handed them over to her boss to check, just in case.

"When I called in, I thought it was a mistake," she said. "You buy these tickets but you never really think you are going to win."

But win she did, along with 4 other members of the staff at McDonald's Insurance in Didsbury. The five of them will now split a $100,000 winning Quick Pick ticket which they had purchased at Didsbury Drugs earlier last week.

Russell, Dena Wannamaker, Darlene Thornton and George and Louise McDonald are each $20,000 richer this week and feeling a much more happy to be at work.

"We started buying these lottery tickets back in April," Russell said. "It was meant to lift up office spirits. We were short staffed and got really busy so we thought, jokingly, that

No mistake

Staff at McDonald's Insurance thought they had made a mistake when they were checking the office's lottery ticket last week, but there was no mistake. The staff become $100,000 richer after their Quick Pick ticket, purchased at Didsbury Drugs, matched last Wednesday's draw. The winners, George and Louise McDonald, Darlene Thornton, Terry Russell and Dena Wannamaker, all get to take home $20,000 each.

Thompson hoping for justice portfolio

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Newly elected Member of Parliament Myron Thompson is putting plans into place to move to Ottawa and is looking forward to filling a shadow position in justice.

Thompson, who won the recent federal election in Wildrose by a landslide, said he is hoping Reform Party leader Preston Manning will appoint him to a critic's position dealing with the justice system.

"I think there is a good chance

I might be involved in some sort of justice shadow committee," he said. "I'm primarily interested in justice and post-secondary education. I've been really concerned with the recent problem with police being killed and the apparent uprising in violence."

Thompson, who replaces Conservative MP Louise Feltham, is also looking forward to heading to Ottawa to work on the unity issue.

"Unity is the top priority with myself," he said. "We have an obvious lack of unity right now and I want to know what we as a constituency can do about it."

Further towards the unity issue, Thompson said he plans to learn French when he takes up residence in Ottawa.

Currently, Thompson is looking for a new constituency office, which he feels may be Feltham's old office in Airdrie. He is also taking applications for staff and preparing a plan for keeping in touch with his constituents.

"I want to form a group of individuals through the constituency," he said. "People from all ages, occupations so we can get together once and a while for information sharing sessions. But a plan for that is just beginning to be formulated now."

Once in Ottawa, where he has only visited once before, Thompson said he plans to help out with his party's plans for getting rid of the deficit and making parliamentary reform.

"Besides the constitution and the transfer payment issues and the economy, I think we are going to have a problem with the Senate as well," he said. "The Senate is PC dominated and they are likely going to have a struggle with the Liberals. That is something we are going to have to take a look at."

A swearing in ceremony for the new Canadian government will take place later this month. The first session of the new Parliament isn't expected to take place until after Christmas.

At the Kitchen Table

by Noreen Olson

In 1952, at Ponoka, Alberta, Glen Johnston became a Social Credit M.L.A. under the leadership of Ernest Manning. He was 51-years-old, a farmer, well driller and logger. He had served on local boards, school, road, cemetery etc. and was one of the original organizers of the Social Credit movement. He was my dad.

In 1993, at Ponoka, Alberta, (Wetaskiwin Constituency) Glen Johnston's son Dale became a Reform M.P. under the leadership of Ernest Manning's son Preston. Dale is 51-years-old and a farmer. He has been Reeve of the County of Ponoka, Chairman of the Board of Education and is one of the original organizers of the Reform movement. He is my brother.

I am very proud of these members of my family but I was proud of them before they attained elected office and I will still be proud of Dale when he is no longer in public life just as I was still proud of Dad when he finally stepped down. The political position is only a small part of the total man and in both cases I know them both as great family men, warm, bright, funny, responsible, honest, trustworthy, caring, loyal, people who entered politics because they couldn't help themselves. So deep was their commitment to their country, so strong their desire to help, so powerful their need to make things better for their children and grandchildren. Neither of them got into this for the money, neither of them were backed by any group that could benefit from their election, neither of them were or are in a position to offer patronage to any individual or group.

We are all inclined to look upon public figures as larger than life but in truth every person in an elected position is somebody's dad, or mom, sister or brother. Jean Chretien's older sister probably remembers him as a dear, little, serious boy and weeps bitter tears when people mimic his twisted mouth. Preston Manning probably grew up cringing under his schoolmates imitations of Ernest Manning doing, "The Back To The Bible Hour." The Social Studies teacher in our high school had a "thing" for the local Liberal candidate so you can imagine how popular we were with her. As each election drew near she held mock elections and shamelessly touted the Liberal view while vilifying Social Credit. The Liberals always won in her classroom elections. It didn't do the actual Liberal candidate one bit of good so all the old girl accomplished was to hurt us but she must have found some satisfaction in doing so. Maybe she is one of the reasons that Dale feels compelled to go forth and right wrongs.

Even if the Reformers had formed the opposition, even if they had formed the government, not they and not anyone else could turn Canada into a land of milk and honey where justice prevails and everyone is wealthy and wise, happy and honest. The government, after all, is us and our leaders are only a reflection of ourselves. If we as individuals are not willing to help and serve, be informed and generous, fair and loving, then how can we expect our leaders to be all those things?

When I am in a less benevolent mood I know that there is no hope for such harmony in our country because we are so subject to worldwide social and fiscal influences that have long since gone beyond our control. But today in the aftermath of the election and full of love and hope and pride in my little brother's accomplishment, maybe my hopes are rekindled. I have been thinking of Dad a lot these last weeks and remembering some of his thoughts. "If all men were honest we wouldn't need any laws", he used to say and Dale has a quote from Edmund Burke on his desk. "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing."

Dad and Dale have one more thing in common. Dad was a very handsome man and Dale is just beautiful. My mom would be so disappointed if I hadn't mentioned that.

Plane crash claims one

by Janice Harrington

An Edmonton man is dead after a small plane crashed near the Bergen Road on Sunday. Glenn Perez Militsala, age 19, of Edmonton, was killed on impact when his single engine Cessna crashed in a farmer's field north east of Didsbury about 1 pm on Sunday. Militsala had been returning to Edmonton after a trip to Calgary. Witnesses to the crash called police.

RCMP said the cause of the crash is unknown and Transport Canada officials have been called to investigate. The weather at the time of the crash was cloudy and windy.

this was one way we could retire."

George McDonald, who owns the insurance agency, said the price of the ticket, which came out of the business's petty cash, was well worth the morale boost.

"It was just something to help us all feel a little better," he said. "Like Terry said, we certainly didn't think we would win."

Despite the win, none of the staff are planning retirement on their $20,000, although some plans have already been made on how to spend it. Russell and Thornton said they plan to put the money away for some time to think on it. Wannamaker plans to fly her sister's family out for the Christmas holidays and the McDonalds plan to give the money to their children.

And you can bet they all plan to continue buying lottery tickets.

Residents may stall landfill

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

The placement of a new landfill site for the entire county may be delayed because of concerns of neighboring residents.

Didsbury Town Councillor Ed Vermont, who sits on the county Regional Waste Management Committee, said residents along the land where a landfill site may be located are expressing concerns about having the dump in their own backyard.

"We've been having a heck of a time finding a place for (the landfill)," he said. "We've got a place picked northwest of Sundre but we are having some problems convincing the people there."

The search for a county landfill has been ongoing for the past three years. Several locations had been chosen only to be rejected after seismic or health testing. Vermont said the Sundre location has been given a good report so far.

"We just have to let people know that it isn't going to be as bad as they think. Landfills, if people help keep them clean, can look as good as a park."

Finding a county landfill site is becoming a more serious issue as regional landfill sites fill up. In Didsbury, Vermont expects the landfill has only 3 to 4 years of space left.

"But we are hoping to expand that time with recycling," he said.

The county landfill will be used to house regional waste from all areas of the county.

Support needed

Janice Harrington

There is a faint scraping kind of noise floating in the air around Didsbury these days, and if you listen really hard you can hear it.

If it catches your interest, you can follow the sound as it leads you downtown, past the construction and straight into the arena.

Recognize the sound yet? It's the sound of skates and sticks on ice and it's enough to get the blood racing in any real Canadian.

Yep, that's right, it is the hockey season again and it officially began in Didsbury last weekend with the Ramblers home opener against the Bashaw Stars.

This will be a different type of season for the Ramblers. No longer content to play just for the sport of the game, this year they are looking to win.

Bigger, tougher, meaner and sporting more talent than in years previous, the Ramblers mean to really compete in the Chinook League this year.

Besides the personal satisfaction involved, the team is also attempting to get Didsbury hockey fans excited again about hometown hockey.

It's the least they deserve.

This is a hockey team with a past. They have been playing for over 40 years with only a small break in the middle. Keeping a team together for that long deserves our respect if nothing else. It also deserves our support.

They have rearranged their schedules and worked harder than ever to put together a team with high entertainment potential. Players are putting in long hours and a lot of sweat to make Didsbury proud. They want to see the fans fill the arena.

That shouldn't be too hard a wish to fulfill, should it?

Quote of the week

"Boy, she's going to be quite a change. Even if I never agreed with Louise on anything in the past, I sure agree that it is a rude awakening."

Wildrose MP elect Myron Thompson talking about the phone call and reactions he is beginning to receive now that he has been elected, some pleasant and some not so pleasant.

The public opinion

by Merrily K. Aubrey

They give us direction. Often we define ourselves by them. We all set our routes (and roots) by them. I am talking about places and their names. They can give us a strong sense of who we are. We all say proudly "I come from Canada!" Yet there is always the tie to a smaller unit, the home town, or the river, or mountain near where we grew up.

The purpose of this column is to explain a little about what the Geographical Name Program (the GNP) is, and what it does, and something about why it does it.

The names of places and geographical features often come from a variety of sources. The first nations peoples have provided us with many of our names. Early explorers, settlers, prominent people, outstanding events, descriptive words, or just plain humor also can cause a feature or place to be named.

Alberta reflects all these. For example, the word "Saskatchewan" is Cree for "swift current". (Does this mean that the people from the southern Saskatchewan city are somewhat repetitive?) Howie, in southern Alberta, was named after its first postmaster, James Howie. Alberta itself, as we all should know, was named after the daughter of Queen Victoria, Princess Louise Caroline Alberta. The origin of the name of Chocolate Mountain is not yet known, but is a fun name.

Many of these names have come down through time, many others have been adopted during this century. Prior to 1897, there was no regulatory body dealing with toponymy (from the Greek topos + onoma, meaning place name.) To this end, the Geographical Board of Canada was established in that year. It was not until 1961 that the responsibility for naming places was fully transferred to the provinces (excepting those areas within federal lands).

Since the early days, the procedures and standards for naming geographic features have become more strict. There are a number of steps involved in having a geographical feature named. For more information on these, please contact me at the address given below. The main principle is that first consideration is given to names that are well established and in current local use.

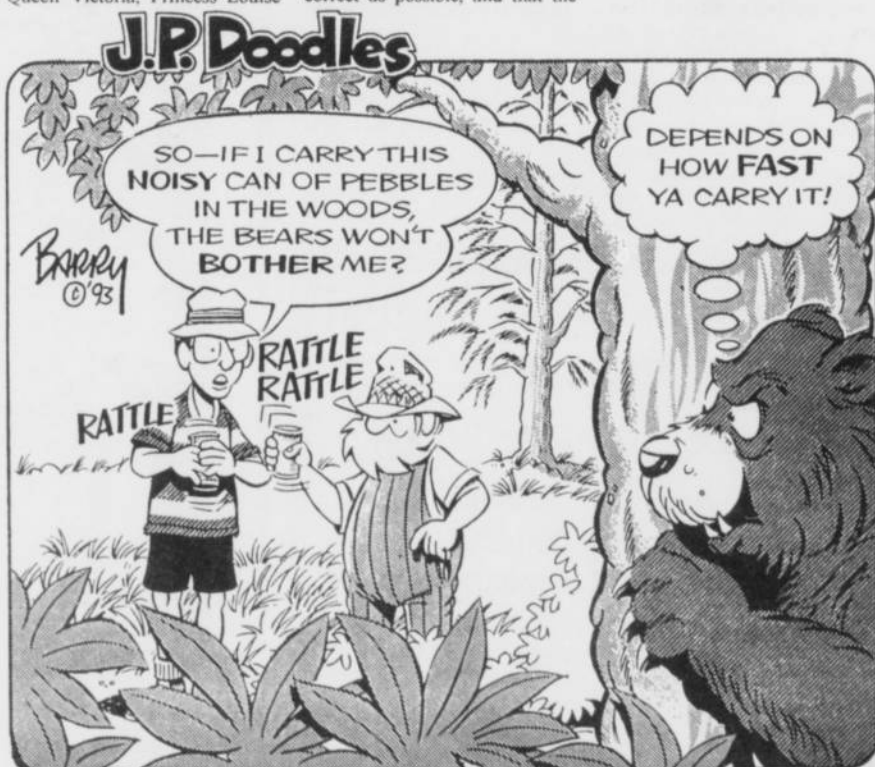

My program does not name anything itself. It acts as the coordinating body between those who want physical features named, and the non-governmental body which approves the names. The program ensures that all information is as correct as possible, and that the names are acceptable in the local area.

The GNP maintains information on nearly 10,000 geographical and place names relating to Alberta. Apart from the usual technical data, we also keep the historical information on the origin of the names used. We are one of the very few provinces in the country which keeps this kind of information. That is why I can write a column such as this.

Our service is meant to be a source of shared knowledge. If at any time you can send more information on anything about which I have written, I will be happy to hear from you. In fact, there are lots of features in Alberta for which the origin information is not known. I am hoping you will be able to help. Perhaps you can even "Stump the Toponymist", where you can send obscure Alberta names for me to find.... But be prepared to send the information if I can't find it!

LETTERS

A profitable proposal

Dear Editor:

To my dismay, I am writing this letter concerning the "Habermehl House". This situation seems to be taking on the aura of a soap opera. It seems to be never ending. Anyway, to the point.

There seems to be a great deal of discussion concerning the two appraisals of the Habermehl House and rightfully so. The first appraisal came in at about $79,500 if the value of the half lot spun off is taken into consideration. The second appraisal with the same sized lot came in at $50,000. How can two appraisals of the same property be so different?

I was as curious as the next person, so I decided to have a look at each appraisal to find out why. Since I took an appraisal course in Calgary a few years ago, I do have a working knowledge of how appraisals are done, which was of some help.

In doing the appraisals, each appraiser took three two-storey houses sold in the area within the last year or so and made adjustments to the selling prices of these houses to try and arrive at a value for the Habermehl House. It should be mentioned each appraiser used different houses (sales) as comparables.

There are a certain number of arbitrary figures used in appraising homes, so it is not an exact science. However, the arbitrary figures aside, the divergence in value between the two appraisals was not all that much until adjustments were made for the square footage differential. Since the Habermehl House is significantly larger than any of the examples used as comparables, an adjustment had to be made for size.

In analysing that adjustment, it has been found that the two appraisers used very different values per square foot. The second appraiser with an end value of $50,000 used arbitrary figures which put a value of between $5.40 and $6.55 per square foot on the square footage difference. In a telephone conversation with the appraiser, he did confirm that he used arbitrary figures based only on what he thought the difference should be.

The first appraiser, who put a value of about $79,500 on the Habermehl House, was a bit more scientific in his method. In a telephone conversation with him, he said he would normally use up to $30 a square foot for differential in a bungalow. Since all the houses involved were two-storey and the Habermehl House was in poor repair, he cut his adjustment value per square foot in half to $15.00.

If the method used by the first appraiser had been used by the second appraiser, the value of the Habermehl House would have been approximately $20,000 higher.

Another glaring difference was a lack of adjustment by the second appraiser due to lot size. The Habermehl House was located on two lots. One half of one lot was sold at $8,500 or $2.72 per square foot, which was accepted as fair market value.

The six comparables used by the two appraisers had lots which were significantly smaller than the remaining lot and one half the Habermehl is now situated on. The first appraiser whose value was about $79,500 did make adjustments for lot size. The second appraiser whose value was $50,000 did not make any adjustments for lot size; even though he did show on his worksheet a difference in lot sizes and his official work sheet called for adjustments for lot size.

If adjustment for lot size on his appraisal were taken into consideration at the accepted value of $2.72 per square foot, it would increase the value of the Habermehl

House by up to $7,800. Why would he not make this adjustment as indicated on his own work sheet?

One other item was fireplaces. The Habermehl House has a fireplace, yet the house value was penalized by $2,000 by the second appraiser when compared to his three comparables.

If the above noted items were taken into consideration, the value placed on the Habermehl House by both appraisers would be very close to being the same.

This all aside, the value of the house is what it can be sold for. Given the current cutbacks by the provincial government etc., etc., etc., it would seem to me that it is important that the town receive as much as possible from the sale. That is because it seems apparent our municipal taxes are going to have to increase again in 1994. Every extra dollar will be of assistance in keeping the increase down. The only other alternative would be for the town to reduce its own budget.

I can understand the very difficult situation - Mayor Lea and the Didsbury Town Councillors are going to find themselves in next year because of provincial cutbacks. It becomes important that we, as taxpayers, assist the mayor and council wherever possible.

I will therefore be submitting a tender offer of $55,000 for the Habermehl House. If my bid is accepted, I will put in the minimal amount of work required to upgrade the house to a more saleable condition. It will then be sold with the net profit being donated to the town.

In calculating the net profit, only receipted costs will be deducted from the selling price. I will not be charging for any of my own time spent on the project.

My wife, Dorothy Moore, has offered to list the house at no cost, with the selling realtor, whoever that may be, being the only one receiving a commission. Therefore, real estate fees will have been cut in half.

I have had a look at the Habermehl House in the last couple days and feel confident there will be a substantial amount of money to be earned for the town after making an effort to improve the saleability of the house. It will be a very interesting and exciting project.

As mentioned earlier, with the financial cutbacks that are in the pipeline, it will become more and more important for the taxpayers to work with the mayor and council to assist wherever possible to maintain the high standards we have become accustomed to. Without a doubt, it will be a challenge for the mayor and council to cope with a situation that is not of their makings and the onus falls upon us as taxpayers to assist wherever possible.

Sincerely,
George Anderson
Didsbury

Correcting misleading ads

Dear Editor:

The recent half-page ad in this newspaper by the Alberta Teachers' Association demands a response. Referring to the proposed government cuts to education, the ATA says in part, "While attacking public education, the government has increased funding to private schools". The public should be aware that this "increased funding" was in very small amounts and brings private/independent school funding to about 1/3 of that which public schools receive. Incidentally, independent schools receive no funds at all from municipal taxes, no transportation grants and no capital grants. However parents of independent school students do pay taxes like everyone else. They also pay for their own busing and raise funds for their own buildings which are built by volunteer labour.

The ATA, by asking "Who deserves less?" and then going on to imply that the public schools are funded at a lower level than are private schools, is being unethical and dishonest. They are apparently all too aware that if the real facts were before the public, few would disagree with the increased funding that independent schools need and deserve.

We in the independent school system would, however, like to thank the ATA for the complimentary observation that "soon, those who want the best for their child will have to buy it." They apparently are aware that independent schools are providing an excellent education on a fraction of the funding their own schools receive. They are aware of the fact that independent schools and home schools are on the increase at an alarming rate. The ad, however, seems to be out to mislead the public into believing that independent schools are overfunded. Indeed, if the little funding that independent schools now receive is cut, then only the rich would be able to afford them and then we really will have a two-tiered system which the ATA is calling on the public to fight.

Fundraiser benefits giver and receiver

by Maureen Lynn
Review writer

A night out at a quality theatre production is always a treat. When that same night includes a sampling of dessert along with proceeds to a worthy cause, the treat is that much sweeter.

Such is the case with the upcoming fundraiser being hosted by the Mount View Association for the Mentally Handicapped (MVAMH) and presented by none other than the Didsbury Theatre Group on Saturday, November 20th at Deer Meadows School.

The presentation is the ever-popular "Odd Couple" play which enjoyed favorable reviews when the group first presented it to the public this September.

Derek Lewis, one of the theatre group's primary actors as well as a long-time supervisor for the MVAMH, said wearing two hats for the occasion won't hamper his contribution to either cause. "I've been with the Didsbury Theatre Group since its inception this past January. The other production we've done has been a murder mystery which was immensely popular. We've been working on the finishing touches for another production as well...but somehow it doesn't seem like work. It can be great fun."

Above all, Lewis is passionate about his work with the Association and looks forward to the positive support the play will potentially generate.

"Right now, the proceeds are earmarked to purchase equipment necessary for the well-being of disadvantaged individuals. We expect a healthy response, but will just have to wait and see how it goes."

The MVAMH, is a non-profit organization serving the needs of disabled adults in terms of employability, community options, and residential needs.

What the public can expect is no less than hilarious. Lewis says the concept of the play's story line offers enough comedy to satisfy even the most discriminating funny bones.

"It runs very similar to the original motion picture and later television series by the same name," Lewis explained. "...It's basically about two middle-aged men who are forced to live together after being kicked out of the house by their wives. One is impeccably tidy, and the other, a slob. I play the neat freak, although in real life, I must say I too tend to be more on the slob."

One of the attractive selling features of the production, according to Lewis, is the fact that the script involves no harsh or suggestive language. "It offers good clean fun for the whole family. These types of events have proven to be very successful in the past and we just hope to be able to continue that trend," he said.

If you are interested in buying tickets for the "Odd Couple" dessert theatre fundraiser being held Saturday, November 20th, simply stop by either the Olds Value Drug Mart, Shackleton Insurance, Video Break in Didsbury, or the MVAMH located adjacent to the Olds Bottle Depot. The cost for the evening is $10 per person which includes cocktails (both alcoholic and non-alcoholic) and desserts at 6:30 p.m. before the curtain rises for the production at 7:30 p.m.

See you at the show!

Ghosts and goblins

Thrill seekers were lined up close to 100 deep outside the Mullen's haunted house on Sunday night. The house, a transformed barn on the Mullen's farm north east of Didsbury, was filled with scary sights and frightening monsters. Visitors, some who really got into the spirit of Halloween, gave a donation to STARS for admission to the haunted house. (photo by Maureen Lynn)

No more bad haircuts

by Maureen Lynn
Review writer

The popular song "Get a haircut and get a real job" will ring true for all participants taking part in the basic haircutting course being held in Didsbury this month.

The job of actually cutting hair will be taken care of by several apprentices enrolled in the course.

The haircuts they take care of will belong to the tresses of none other than their beloved family members and close friends.

"It's primarily intended for parents interested in learning how to cut their children's or spouses hair properly," said Shawna Krebs who is helping offer the course to the public through the Didsbury Recreation Office.

Krebs said she's not quite sure what the response to the course will be like as this is the first time it has been made available to the public. What she is certain of, however, is the quality of the instruction slated for the two to three hour course on November 6th.

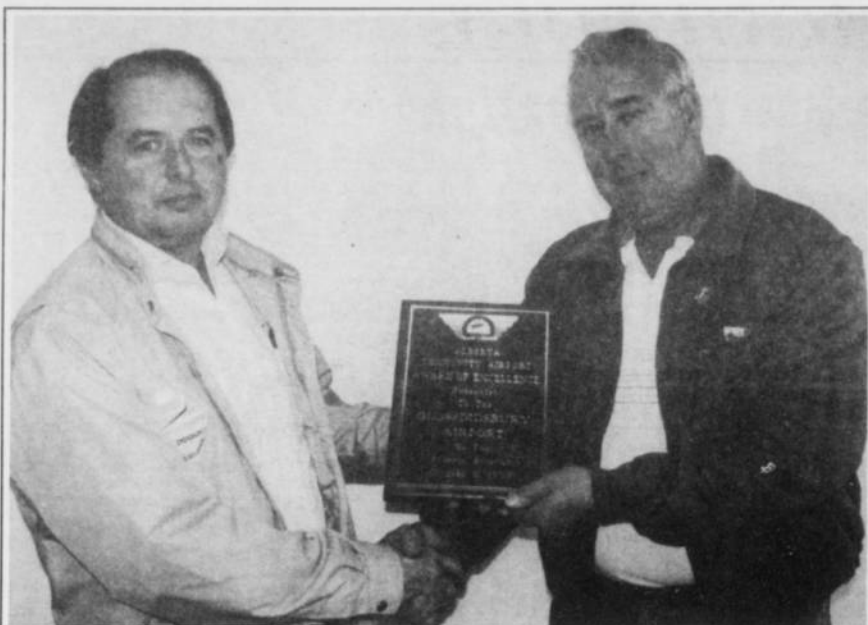

"We're bringing out a representative from the Alberta School of Beauty to provide step by step instructions and supervise each participant and their models all the way through."

The only supplies necessary are a good quality pair of scissors and a comb (water squirt bottles and capes are optional). A good pair of scissors generally run anywhere from $20 - $25, and a comb, about $5. If you are not able to find the necessary tools in town, purchases can be made directly from the instructor at the time of the program.

For further information about how you can make your family look their best, please get in touch with Shawna Krebs before November 3rd or 4th to register. Applications are being accepted now along with a fee of $26.75. The course is arranged to be held at the Ross Ford School Art Room.

"Everyone should help pay for the deficit ... right?"

Over half a million children in this province are being asked to help balance the provincial budget with their futures. Crowded classes and fewer teachers combined with proposed cuts to programs mean our children will be forced to compete in a global economy with a bargain basement education.

Screening pellets can work in cattle rations

Screening pellets are a grain substitute producers can use if they lack or have poor quality feed this winter says an Alberta Agriculture specialist.

"Weather has affected hay quality and quantity in some areas. In others, most cereal crops were cut for greenfeed. So, feed grain will be less available," said Barry Yaremco, ruminant nutritionist.

"But before you go out and buy screening pellets, there are some considerations," he added.

Pellet quality is the basic concern. There are three classes or grades of screenings. A number one grade is the highest quality. It contains lightweight grain kernels, cracked grain and limited amount of weeds and other foreign material. Number two grade has broken or cracked kernels and higher levels of weed seeds and other contaminants.

"Uncleaned or refuse screening pellets are the lowest quality. They can contain aspirator dust, floor sweepings and almost anything else," notes Yaremco.

The presence of weed seeds is a major concern. If hulls haven't been cracked or broken, small weed seeds -- for example mustards, chamomile and pigweed -- will eventually germinate after cattle eat them. Rumen acids and microbes can't digest some hard seedcoats.

"As well, screening pellets can introduce new weeds to your fields even if the manure rots two to three years before you apply it to your soil. So screening pellet quality is definitely a concern," he said.

Another consideration is the type of grains in the screening pellets. Different grains have different fermentation rates. This influences how much screening pellet can be fed per head per day.

A wheat screening pellet has one of the most rapid fermentation rates. If animals aren't given time to adjust to the new ration or if too much is fed, it may result in rumen acidosis, bloat, flounder and even death.

"Barley and oat screenings pellets are digested less rapidly, but animals still need time to adjust to new rations," he added.

Another factor to weigh when buying screening pellets is the amount of processing that is done before pelleting. Finely ground grains have a more rapid fermentation rate than rolled or coarsely ground grain. This, too, makes acidosis a concern.

Oilseed screenings can contain four to 10 percent oil. Fibre digestion in the rumen is impaired if the total oil or fat content in the ration is over seven percent. "The result is impaction and feed intake will drop significantly," said Yaremco.

A final issue is variation in nutrient content. "There is no guarantee of the percentage of grain in a screening pellet," he said. "Some batches are high quality, while others are mainly dust and hulls."

He recommends testing the screenings or getting a guaranteed analysis from the supplier. As well, he advises not to include screening pellets or other by-product feeds at more than 25 percent of the ration.

"Before you consider more than 25 percent of pellets in a ration, consult with a qualified nutritionist," he advised.

The amount of pellets fed also depends on the type of animal, the stage of production (pregnant or lactating cow, size and weight gain of feeder), weather pattern, feed quality in the ration and whether the animal is thin or fat.

"I strongly recommend doing a feed test on the nutrient content of all feeds used in the ration if you're considering pellets. Using screening pellets doesn't guarantee adequate protein in the ration. You may still need a protein supplement," he said.

His final advice is to consult with a nutritionist about appropriate levels of salt, mineral, vitamins and pellets for the total ration to meet the animal's needs. Private laboratories will do feed tests, as will Alberta Agriculture's soil and animal nutrition laboratory.

Devine moves quarters

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Local florist Kevin Devine has closed up his shop in Carstairs and returned home to make his success in Didsbury.

Devine and his wife Linda, made the move to Didsbury last month and it is one they certainly don't regret.

"It isn't that our clientele wasn't supportive in Carstairs," Devine said. "It's just that there wasn't enough traffic flow there."

Their new store, Devine Planting, is located in the former Flowers by Dorothy store on 19th Avenue. Bright and airy, and smelling wonderful, the shop offers an assortment of floral services from fresh cut flowers to special occasion bouquets to gift items.

"We are looking to specialize in our customer's individual needs,"

Devine said. "Whatever they need, we will get for them."

Devine certainly has the experience to go that extra mile for a customer. He has worked in the floral industry for 9 years after obtaining his training in horticulture and floriculture at the Olds College. He has been in business for himself for nearly a year now.

"Kevin's speciality is personal service," said Linda. "He goes out of his way, if people want something special, to go and get it, whether it has something to do with flowers or not."

The store's selection proves the Devine's commitment to complete service for their customers. Besides the fresh cut selection, Devine provides arrangements for wedding and funerals and offers a wide selection of house plants, flowering plants, silk arrangements, dried arrangements, plant accessories, musical dolls, gift wear and greeting cards. He plans to expand on his selection as business improves.

"We are glad to be back in Didsbury," Devine said. "We really like this community. It is a family orientated town and we plan to work to meet the needs of everybody who walks into our store."

Devine selection

Kevin and Linda Devine have moved their florist shop from Carstairs to Didsbury and are working to make the shop a unique stop for floral selection. The Devines offer everything from fresh cut flowers to gift items.

Mount View Health Unit news

The teenage munchies

In one American study, researchers estimated teenagers ate 40 percent of their calories as snack foods. Parents and teachers can probably confirm this habit exists in Alberta teens as well. As snack foods are notorious for having high fat and salt levels and being low in nutrients, it can be helpful for teens and their parents if high quality snacks are easily available.

Consider the following as part of the snack staples to have available:

- fresh and canned fruits
- vegetables: pre-cut celery, carrots, peppers, snow peas, turnips, broccoli or cauliflower
- veggie dip made with yoghurt and herbs
- crackers, pita bread, toast, bagels or buns and
  - *cheese
  - *antipasto
  - *sardines
  - *peanut butter (and jam)
- Open faced grilled cheese sandwich - dress it up, spread with pizza sauce and add mushrooms, peppers and fresh tomatoes.
- Make a shake
  - combine a banana, yoghurt, milk and orange juice concentrate and blend.

Use any fresh or frozen berry in place of the banana

- Popcorn:
  - plain, air popped popcorn
  - *or add 4 tsp. soft margarine and 1 teaspoon chili to 4 cups popcorn.
- Cold cereal
  - with milk
  - mix Shreddies, Cheerios, Rice Krispies and bran cereals. Toss each cup with 1 teaspoon melted margarine and flavor with garlic, onion powder and/or chili seasonings. Bake at 350 for 25-30 minutes, stirring occasionally.
- Milk
- Are higher fat choices and should be chosen in moderation

For teens, their high caloric needs are also matched by high nutrient needs for growth. If some teens in your life might eat 40 percent of their calories at snacks, help them choose calories with nutrients.

munity Nutritionist at Mount View Health Unit. She can be reached at 221-8000.

Mountain View Health Care Centre NOTICE

The Emergency Department of Mountain View Health Care Centre is fully functional and may be accessed at any time on a 24-hour basis. It has not been adversely affected by the recent government funding reductions.

In order to provide a more efficient outpatient service, the physicians have decided to open their individual clinics earlier in the day. If you require non-emergent medical services on weekday mornings you can now see physicians in their clinics after 10:00 a.m. We hope that these changes will provide a more efficient, economical and enhanced service for the public.

If you have any questions or concerns about health care delivery within our hospital district, please contact Dennis Stabber at 335-9393.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO PROPRIETARY ELECTORS OF THE TOWN OF DIDSBURY, PROVINCE OF ALBERTA SECTIONS 324 AND 327 - THE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT ACT

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Town of Didsbury, in the Province of Alberta, has given first reading to By-law No. 93-9 which will, on final passage and approval, authorize Council to guarantee repayment of all monies which may be borrowed by the Didsbury Agricultural Society and Didsbury Curling Club up to but not exceeding $444,000.00, such monies to be used for the construction of a curling rink.

The cost of the aforesaid project amounts to $1,027,000.00. After deducting from this cost the amount of $583,000.00, to be contributed by:

a)	Provincial - C.F.E.P. Grant	$125,000.00
b)	Provincial - Agricultural Grant	$175,000.00
c)	Town of Didsbury - Contribution	$170,000.00
d)	Ag. Society-Cow/Calf operation	$ 55,000.00
e)	Ag. Society/Curling Club Contribution	$ 48,000.00
f)	Investment Interest	$ 10,000.00

the net amount to be borrowed by the Didsbury Agricultural Society and Didsbury Curling Club, the repayment of which will be guaranteed by the Town of Didsbury, is $444,000.00. The loan is to be repayable to Mountain View Credit Union Ltd., in twenty (20) consecutive annual instalments of combined interest and principal, the interest to be calculated and payable monthly at Mountain View Credit Union Ltd. Prime Rate less one half of one per cent (0.5%).

NOW THEREFORE NOTICE is hereby given by the Council of the Town of Didsbury that, unless a poll of the proprietary electors is demanded, as provided for by the terms of Section 324 of the Municipal Government Act, the said Council may pass the said by-law and submit it to the Local Authorities Board for approval.

All persons interested are hereby notified and they are required to govern themselves accordingly.

Dated at the Town of Didsbury, in the Province of Alberta, this 26th day of October, 1993.

Town of Didsbury

E.M. STOREY, Chief Administrative Officer

INFORMATION FOR PROPRIETARY ELECTORS

A proprietary elector means:

- An elector whose name appears on the assessment roll in respect of land liable to assessment and taxation for general municipal purposes,
- an elector who owns a share of the capital stock of a family farm corporation as defined in the Income Tax Act (Canada) if that family farm corporation appears on the assessment and taxation for general municipal purposes, and
- an elector who is liable for the payment of a mobile unit license.

A poll may be demanded in the Town of Didsbury by a petition signed by proprietary electors equal in number to at least

- 5% of the population of a municipality as determined by the latest census, in a municipality having a population of 1,000 or more persons, in accordance with the provisions of Section 324 of the Municipal Government Act. The petition for a vote must be received by the Municipal Secretary within 15 days of the last publication of this notice and shall contain on each page "an accurate and identical statement of the purpose and objectives of the petition".

(Further requirements of the petition are provided in Section 6 of the Municipal Government Act.)

Date of the last publication of this notice is the 2nd day of November, 1993.

Olga is arranging for classes in Hardanger, Rosemaling etc. Any interested person can contact Olga about these.

Ruby sent get well wishes to Angela Webster and congratulations to Sharon and Ken Pederson on the birth of their baby girl.

Laurie Gans made a banner for Sons of Norway. We're all very pleased with it, Laurie.

A group of members attended the hockey game in Didsbury between Team Canada and Team Norway. We had an enjoyable evening and cheered for the Norwegians. We were able to talk to one of the players and gave him Olds pins to pass on to the other players.

The date of the Sports Weekend has been changed to Feb. 18, 19, 20. A bus has been booked for this occasion.

As October is Foundation month, Noreen gave a brief talk on the purpose and benefits of the Foundation.

We enjoyed pumpkin pie and

LET'S GO Ramblers!

Rambler's plan competitive season

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

The Didsbury Ramblers played their first home game this week for a season they hope will end in a league championship.

Team organizers have put together what they feel is a more competitive team for the 1993/1994 season in the Chinook Hockey League.

This year's team, coached by Bryan Latimer, a former right winger with the Olds Elks, is tougher and more talented than the Ramblers have had before.

Players from around the province make up the roster this year. Players are Jason Bottril, Jack Gillespie and Marty Krebs in goal, Boyd LaFlemme, Barry Toovey, Wade Smith, Darren Dallas, Greg Laveck, Brent Youngs, Jason Krebs, Gary Smith, Darcy McGuire, Rob Chorney, Derek Howat, Mike Hammel, Kevin Benkie, Scott Fisher and Shawn Fernette playing forward and Wendal Houk, Darcy Stetz, Delos Archer, Ron Doiron, Kirk Poitras, Chris Skidmore, Jim Dokter, Derek Nellis and Rick Rosseki playing defence.

Besides some new aggressive plays on the ice, the Ramblers are also forwarding a new marketing plan to get more fans out to support the team during home games. Most games are planned for Sunday afternoons and prizes and special events are offered.

"We want to give some great entertainment to our fans," said coach Bryan Latimer. "That's another reason we tried to step up the quality of the team."

Latimer, who played right wing with the Ramblers since 1988, took over the coach's position this year from Al McCoy. McCoy, who now sits as President of the Ramblers' Association, said the time commitment was too tough for him to continue as coach.

This is the Ramblers 3rd season back in the Chinook Hockey League. The team had folded in 1986 after they had trouble attracting players to the team. McCoy and team General Manager Larry Tennant put the team back together in 1991.

The Ramblers history stretches way back before then, with games played by the Didsbury team as far back as 1950. The team began play with the Chinook League in the 1954/55 hockey season.

President
Alan McCoy

McCoy played with the Ramblers for 7 years before restarting the club and coaching the team. He stepped down as coach and now looks after promotions and administration.

Coach
Bryan Latimer
Latimer played right wing with the Ramblers and with the Olds Elks before taking over as coach this year.

General Manager
Larry Tennant

Tennant got involved with the Ramblers when the club restarted in 1991. He takes care of day to day operations for the team and player recruitment.

In accordance with Part 2, Division 2 of the Alberta Environmental Protection and Enhancement Act, Alberta Transportation and Utilities, has applied for an Amendment to their existing Approval for the opening, operation and reclamation of a sand and gravel pit on NE 30-32-5-W5M in the County of Mountain View No. 17. Sand and gravel will be excavated, crushed, screened and stockpiled as required for projects managed by Alberta Transportation and Utilities. The Amendment is for the renewal of Development and Reclamation Approval No. SG-20-89 for another five year term.

Development and Reclamation Approval No. SG-20-89 requires the disturbance of 10 hectares (24.7 acres). No additional disturbances outside of the current sanctioned area are proposed in the amendment application. Proposed reclamation plans are for the return of this site for improved pasture with a small waterbody for stockwatering purposes upon completion of sand and gravel excavations. Any person directly affected and wishing to file a statement of concern with respect to conservation and reclamation activities can do so by writing to L.K. Brodie, Director of Land Reclamation Division, Alberta Environmental Protection, 3rd Floor, Oxbridge Place, 9820-106 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T5K 2J6. Telephone number 427-5323. Statements of concern must be submitted on or before December 2, 1993. Please quote application number RS10014 for correspondence.

Copies of the application can be obtained from Alberta Transportation and Utilities, Materials Engineering Branch, Aggregate Services, 4th Floor, Twin Atria Building, 4999-98 Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta, T6B 2X3, Attention: Mr. Tim Hewitt. Telephone 427-3101.

and working for its principles.

A loving, caring wife, mother of two, grandmother of eight, adopted "Mom" to many and a friend to many more, Margaret loved life. Her love radiated to those around her, and that love was returned by all who knew her.

Margaret was predeceased by her father in 1929, her mother in 1933, and an infant son in 1940. She will be sadly missed by her loving husband Earl, her son Don (Mary Anne) Phillips of Crossfield, her daughter Linda (Peter) Wollman of Pincher Creek, her eight grandchildren and her great grandchild.

Funeral services were held in Didsbury on Wednesday, October 27, 1993. Interment at Didsbury Cemetery. Mountain View Funeral Chapels entrusted with arrangements.

Baseball Coach credits hard work for award

by Maureen Lynn
Review writer

It would have been easy for Fred Denischuk to just sit back four years ago and accept the fact that his eight-year-old son would have no baseball team to play on in Carstairs.

But sitting back and accepting the seemingly inevitable just wouldn't be his style. Perhaps that is the very quality earmarking the Minor Baseball Coach for three awards - one of which is being presented to him at the Baseball Alberta Awards Banquet in Edmonton November 6th.

It was the supposed hardship his son faced back in 1989 that spurred him into developing his own baseball team with a group of kids that weren't able to be coached any more on the one and only (and already overflowing) team in town.

"There was this one guy back then that was coaching about 27 kids...he told me that he just couldn't handle that many and that he would have to cut some of the newer kids from the team."

So Denischuk went on to form his own team - the CanTax Carstairs Canons - and with the help of good friend, Bev Vitch, went on to attract more and more interest each year and organize more and more tournaments. "I suppose it's because we spend a lot of time with the kids and if you're willing to do that and put the extra effort in, it eventually pays off."

Well, pay off time has come. Just recently Denischuk was notified he had won this year's Ted Rudd Minor Coach Award along with being nominated for the 3M Coaching Canada Award and the OV Award of Merit.

He won the Ted Rudd Award for being the kind of minor league baseball coach who reinforced not only a sportsmanlike attitude in his team, but also demonstrated the proper attitude towards his team, the opponents, and the officials.

The 3M Coaching Canada Award is presented to only the four top male and top female coaches in the country. Criteria for the award includes showing respect for officials, opponents, parents, and advocating a philosophy of fair play. The 1993 OV Award of Merit, to which Denischuk has also been nominated, is the top individual award in amateur baseball in the province. It was developed to recognize persons whose conduct, dedication, and activities have made a valuable and lasting contribution to the development and betterment of the sport in Alberta.

Denischuk said he's honored to have the opportunity to travel up to Edmonton on November 6th to accept the award, and was happy and surprised to be nominated for the 3M and OV awards. "Anything I get over and above what they give me in Edmonton is a bonus...I just want to keep being involved in the sport as long as possible."

He is already looking forward to next year when Carstairs will host the Western Canadian Minor League Tournament.

Mt. View W.I. news

Special to the Review

Our October meeting was a Grandmother's meeting with our hostess Elsie Phillips of The College Green having her meeting in the lovely College Green Recreation Centre.

We were short on members with only 6 present and six visitors. Our President read a poem, "The Rose Beyond the Wall", in memory of Marjory Stiles.

We quickly went through our business meeting, discussion on the Christmas dinner at Mt. View

Hall in December and the guest list.

Our speaker was Mr. Jim Adamchick with Padnoma Services in Olds.

Padnoma was actually started by a lady at Markerville, AB. She felt that a lot of mentally handicapped people were capable of doing a variety of jobs.

One new venture to-day is shopping for the shut-in's. The grocery order is phoned to the Olds office 556-1000. The lady who does the order goes to the grocery which may be in Olds or Didsbury and along with a driver delivers the order and in turn returns the money to the store.

They are very capable of other jobs too; giving Padnoma a call this helps seniors stay in their own homes longer.

To finish off the afternoon, we were treated to fruit bread and cheese and refreshments.

The draw winners were Mrs. Cheesmuir and Mrs. Ahlgren.

1989 MERCURY GRAND MARQUIS LX

Fully loaded. Power seats, windows, door locks, antennae, trunk release, Dolby stereo cassette, 83,300 miles. Winterized and always well maintained. White with blue plush interior. Asking $11,900. No GST. Call Dorothy or George 335-3465.

Ramblers win home opener

Pity the poor fans who opted to miss the Rambler home opener. The Halloween trick was definitely on them with the hometown club skating to an exciting 8-7 victory over the visiting Bashaw Stars.

Continuing to demonstrate the fast and exciting offensive play that is predominant in the league this year, the hometown club, backed up by the spectacular netminding of Marty Krebs, prevailed over the explosive Bashaw club in the final outcome.

The Ramblers were outshot 62-33 in a penalty filled contest that saw the Rambler goaltender making outstanding saves to allow the locals to perform a little Halloween magic at the opposition end.

Four Rambler marksmen accounted for the goal scoring, with 2 goals being scored by Shawn Frenette, Chris Skidmore, Darcy McGuire and Scott Fisher.

Chris Skidmore chipped in with 3 assists to give him 5 points on the evening and displayed the dominance that he should contribute to the Rambler blueline corp. this year.

Scott Fisher, the leading point getter for the Ramblers last year, seems to be finding the scoring touch after a slow start that had him in the coach's doghouse earlier on.

Coach Bryan Latimer was pleased with the victory especially after noticing that the visiting Stars had re-inforced their line up with recent Lloydminster Blazer release Les Ford who had skated against the Olds Grizzlies weeks prior. Ex Hobbema Oiler Tim Longjohn was a recent addition to the Bashaw lineup and he was a mainstay on the Bashaw blueline.

Spectacular was the comments regarding Marty Krebs performance on Sunday from teammates and a welcome relief it was in light of the less than par performance that the Ramblers netminders have been turning in as of late.

This was evident in Innisfail on Friday evening as the Ramblers scored only 7 times to give up 12 in losing their second game of the season.

The big gunner in the contest for the Ramblers was Darren Dallas with 1 goal and 4 assists to lead the team in a losing effort.

Last year's leading plus minus player Darcy McGuire chipped in with 4 points including 2 goals, but missed chances on the part of the Rambler team, ultimately contributed to the downfall of the local squad.

The Rambler victory on Sunday moves their record to 3 and 2 as they easily defeated the Olds Elks on Tuesday evening by a score of 9-2.

The general consensus from fans at the game was that they were surprised with the speed of the game and the vast improvement of the skill and calibre of play displayed.

Although disappointed with a 3-2 record at this stage, Rambler staff can feel confident that the type of hockey that has been exhibited this early is far superior to that in past years and that the fans are certainly getting their money's worth.

The next Rambler home game is Sunday, November 7th at 1:30 p.m. against the Olds Elks and the Ramblers hope to see a good crowd out to watch the exciting action.

Game board winners for Sunday were Brian Leatherdale, Perry Boersma, and Glen Carlson. The Ramblers wish to personally thank Glen who donated his winnings back to the hockey team.

Win at home

The Ramblers put on an outstanding show at home last Sunday as they defeated the Bashaw Stars 8 to 7 in the season home opener. The club has worked hard to put together a more competitive team for this season, hoping to improve their chances at winning the league championship. (photo by Larry Lentz)

Grizzlies keep going and going and going...

by Don E. Owchar
Review writer

Just like the Energizer rabbit, the Olds Grizzlies keep rolling along in the AJHL. It looked like they were going into a bit of an offensive slump after a couple of close wins but then along came the Bonnyville Pontiacs and Lloydminster Blazers, and goodbye went the slump. A pair of 9-1 wins extended their league record to 13-0 and gave them a 4 point lead over Fort Sask. with 2 games in hand.

Oct. 22 Griz 9 - Bonnyville 1. The Griz blew this one open with 6 in the third to romp to their 12th straight win. Joe Murphy scored the only goal of the 1st, then Chris Sekura and Greg Ambrose made it

3-0 after 2. League scoring leader Harry York opened the scoring in the 3rd and then the Griz turned on the jets. Miro Skovira with 2, Kirkpatrick, Dlouhy, Heistad and McDonald made the final 9-1.

Oct. 23 Griz 9 - Blazers 1. This time the Griz spread the scoring out a bit as they had period leads of 4-0 and 7-1. Mark Tatar scored twice in the first, Kirkpatrick and Sheptak added singles. In the 2nd Murphy, Skovira and Graham made it 7-0 before Mark Weiss beat Ryan Ayley for the only Lloyd goal. John Pouzar and Sheptak, with his 2nd, rounded out the Griz scoring in the 3rd.

Griz Notes...Tyler Graham and Curtis Sheptak used the 2 games to fatten their scoring stats. Graham scored once and added 5 assists while Sheptak checked in with 2 goals and 4 helpers. Rookie Casson Masters picked up an assist against the Blazers, his first AJHL point...The Griz outshot B'ville 45-19 and Lloyd 42-17, including 18-3 in the 3rd!...The Griz played a couple in Fort Mac on the weekend, results in next week's Review. Their next home game is Friday the 5th against Fort Sask.

Special to the Review

To enjoy a swimming pool, such as Didsbury's Aquatic Centre, you don't really have to know how to swim. Hard to believe? - well, here's a few examples then. Why not try aquacize - you need only be in waist- to chest-deep water at any given time to make it through the one-hour classes. Not only will you enjoy the refreshing atmosphere of the aquatic environment, but you get your exercise for the day, too! The same goes for the 50 + Fun & Fitness classes - never over chest deep if that's what you prefer. We have the hot tub to soak in, and rules state that there is no swimming allowed in there, so it's a perfect place for nonswimmers. A steam room will be constructed during December, which also allows absolutely no swimming. If you still feel that you need to swim to be here, then why not register in our adult swimming lessons? Our adult classes offer very relaxed one-on-one instruction by very capable, patient, and helpful instructors. Our instructors realize that there are lots of potential adult swimmers out there who may be a little or a lot nervous about being in learn-to-swim situations. They take the time with you to help you to assist you in achieving your aquatic goals. We don't promise that you'll be a national level swimmer, but we do promise that we'll do all we can to get you on the right track to keeping your head above water!

Speaking of goals, a while back (September 24), several swimmers at the Didsbury Aquatic Centre began a journey swimming to the North Pole. The actual distance to get there is 4,380 km and, after breaking it down a little, the swimmers had to swim 1,095 laps to get there. We thought that with Christmas coming some people might like to have a chat with Santa to see what he has on the go. Well, some swimmers reached the Pole before Santa had returned from his own off-season vacation. These swimmers, needless to say, had to turn around and begin their trek back, as there was nowhere to stay there and warm up. We are patiently awaiting the return of Hobe Horton (there and back twice already!), Scott Turnbull, and Inga Owens (to congratulate them of course), and in the meantime we're cheering on the other 30 or so swimmers that are making their way there. Good luck to you all.

Before Christmas is upon us, the Didsbury Aquatic Centre will be running a few speciality courses that might interest some of you out there. An Alberta Fitness Leader course will run in November and December. This course will offer both the Basic Theory component and the Aquatic Specialty - 32 hours of fun with anatomy and physiology, body mechanics, and water exercise! A scuba exposure clinic will also be held in November and a Snorkel Instructor course in December. These added courses will work around all of our other regularly scheduled programs. Lunches are also being planned for our 50 + Fun & Fitness bunch and a Bronze Cross exam will be held, as well.

The 1993/94 schedules for both the main and leisure ice surfaces in the Memorial Complex have now been confirmed. Both schedules are now posted in the arena lobby area. Take home copies of the schedule are available at the Recreation Office during office hours or through the complex concession during evenings and weekends. Feel free to call our office at 335-8377 for more information.

On Monday, October 4, representatives from the Alberta Amateur Softball Association announced that Didsbury Minor Ball's application to host the 1994 Provincial Girls Squirt "C" softball tournament was successful. As a result, on July 2 and 3 our community will play host to some of the finest 11 and 12-year-old girls' softball teams in the province. The tournament will be played at the Ross Ford, Westglan and Didsbury Jets ball diamonds.

For approximately two months now representatives of a number of local agencies including the Mount View Health Unit, Mountain View Health Care Centre, F.C.S.S., Alberta Community Development, Didsbury Agricultural Society, County of Mountain View, Didsbury Public Library and Didsbury & District Recreation and Culture Board have been meeting and planning South Central Alberta's first ever rural volunteer conference. "Ruralize '94" is scheduled to be held in Didsbury on Thursday, April 28 in the Memorial Complex hall and curling rink. The conference will feature sessions on the various aspects of community volunteerism which are unique to residents involved in rural volunteer programs. Registration details will be available in early January through the various agencies involved in the event. For more information on Ruralize '94 please call our office at 335-8377.

We have received some concerns from users of the Memorial Complex regarding our policy on use of telephone service within the confines of the building. Facility staff have been directed to encourage users to take advantage of the pay telephone service which exists in the complex vestibule. We have instigated this as a means of ensuring that the complex telephone services which exist in the pool, arena and recreation offices are retained specifically for facility operation. We can certainly appreciate the inconvenience that this policy may create so we are encouraging parents to ensure that children involved in activities at the complex are outfitted with necessary funds or calling card service as a means of accessing the pay telephone service. Your support and co-operation with this matter is appreciated. If you would like more information on the issue please feel free to call our office at 335-8377.

With renovations will ongoing, the Memorial Complex hall will remain out of order until the week-end of November 12, 13 and 14. We would like to advise groups and organizations that the facility will be up and fully functional after that time so if you are looking for a location to hold a staff get together or Christmas party you may wish to consider the MPR. For information on rates and bookings please call 335-8377.

Don's Den

by Don E. Owchar
Review writer

Hi and welcome back to the Den. As promised this week's Trivia question deals with the record Doug Flutie broke on Saturday the 23rd. The CFL record for TD passes in a season is now 42, set by Mr. Flutie. What did it used to be and who held it?

Sticking with the old pigskin, it looks like the Stamps, who will easily finish 1st in the west, will have to play a semi-final game after all. The players (except Stamps of course) voted for the extra game. Now it's up to the fans to support it and that is still a big question. Back to the game on the 23rd, a wild 48-45 Saskatchewan win over Calgary and we note Flutie's record wasn't the only one set. Ray Elgaard of the Green Riders is now the all-time leader in reception yardage as he broke Brian Kelly's old mark. And Flutie and Kent Austin combined for a CFL record 1,088 yards passing. Wow, I wonder if either team ever heard of the position running back?

Finalists announced for '93

Five defending champions are among the 72 qualifiers for the 20th anniversary edition of the Canadian Finals Rodeo (CFR) in Northlands Coliseum Nov. 10 to 14, 1993.

CFR qualification is determined by total money won at any of the 65 Canadian Professional Rodeo Association (CPRA) sanctioned rodeos across western Canada this year. The 10 leading season performers in professional rodeo's six major events - bareback riding, bull riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling and ladies barrel racing - all earn the right to compete at CFR. As well, CFR '93 will also have competitions for novice bareback riding (three contestants), novice saddle bronc riding (three contestants) and boys steer riding (six contestants).

Returning event champions from CFR '92 are: bareback riding, Bill Boyd of Olds, AB; bull riding, Daryl Mills of Pink Mountain, B.C.; calf roping, Larry Robinson of Innisfail, AB; ladies barrel racing,

On the baseball and since I'm seldom right I get to say I told you so. Jays in 6! O.K. Blue Jays! O.K. Joe Carter! What he did is what guys dream about. About the only thing that could have made it better is if it had been in the bottom of the 9th in game 7. But I don't think our hearts could have taken it. Now it's time to prepare for a 3-pete!

The big news in hockey is actually 2 big ones. The Leafs breaking the NHL record for wins to start a season and Mario coming back. T.O. used a 2-0 blanking of Tampa Bay to set the new mark of 9, then made it a perfect 10 with a win in Chicago. And Mario, what more can you say. Some people questioned, among other things, his courage and dedication when he came into the league but there's no questions now. Although his first game back was a 7-3 Pens loss to Quebec, Mario racked up a couple of assists and played about 20 minutes. Not bad for a guy who's had 2 back operations.

O.K. That's it for another week. Hope everyone had a great and safe Halloween and now let's start getting ready for Christmas. Trivia answer: Peter Liske with 40 for the Stamps in 1967.

Sign of generosity

Local businesses lend a helping hand to the Didsbury Golf Club by purchasing sign hole designation signs for the course. The signs, which mark holes, also advertise for the purchaser. Bill Ward of Ward's Value Drug Mart, Bill Fleming of Res-Q Towing, James Paulgaard of Paulgaard Agri-Services, Sam Laveque of the Canadian Sign Company, Mike Hofforth of Didsbury IGA and Claude Baril of Didsbury Drugs, all donated to the cause. The club has three more signs left for purchase.

The killing winter of 'aught-six aught-seven'

After the spring calving of 1906, Wilbur Leroy "Lee" Brainard left Montana with 600 head of cattle and 100 horses. He was striking north for empty grass outside Alberta's chinook belt. By late summer he had reached Hanna, Alberta, helped by his teenaged son Albert and his old friend Dad White. Brainard staked out a range on the prairie, far from civilization.

His new neighbors, the Hunt brothers, were surprised at how little hay he'd cut, and offered to winter his stock, but Brainard had a misplaced confidence in the Alberta climate. By Christmas, snow had covered the grass; the coldest winter on record had descended and his cattle were nearly starving. It was late January before the weather lifted and Brainard could try moving his herd through deep snow to belatedly accept the Hunts' offer.

Around noon on the 29th, a wall of grey cloud swept down from the northwest onto the Brainards, White, and the cattle. Both the campfire and the sun were blotted out as the livestock scattered. Trapped by their wagon, the three men could only wait and keep Dee Butterfield, Ponoka, AB; saddle bronc riding, Rod Hay of Mayerthorpe, AB.

Only Mark Roy of Dalmead, AB - the 1992 (and 1991) Canadian Steer Wrestling Champion - failed to qualify for CFR '93.

The overwhelming majority of CFR '93 contestants, 61, are again from Alberta. British Columbia and Saskatchewan each have five representatives, and one cowboy qualified from Manitoba.

Darren Shaw of Cardston, AB has dislodged Joe Butterfield from the prestigious number one position, a distinction Butterfield has had doing into the past two CFRs. However, Butterfield is still the only contestant to qualify for CFR '93 in two events - steer wrestling and calf roping.

Bull riding was the most lucrative event this year for CFR finalists, although only two of the 10 highest-earning cowboys throughout the CPRA season were bull riders. The 10 CFR '93 bull riding finalists collectively earned $156,269 in the 1993 season, followed by steer wrestling ($154,628), calf roping ($150,775), saddle bronc riding ($138,085), bareback riding ($121,114) and ladies barrel racing ($115,892).

Killing Winter

moving as the cold of the blizzard seeped in. Dad White slumped down dead at dawn on the 30th. Young Albert lost hope. His father pleaded with him and pummelled him, but he couldn't revive his spirit. Panicking, Brainard took his son on his back and walked northward a short way before he realized Albert was dead.

Brainard returned to the wagon, left his son next to Dad White, and set out again through the blinding storm. He wandered delirious for hours, finally bumping into something solid as he neared collapse. Nearly senseless, he saw that the obstacle was the rail fence of the Hunt homestead. He reached the door for their shack and fell against it. "Get out of here!" yelled Jack Hunt, thinking it was a steer. "I won't get out," came the weak reply. The three Hunt boys quickly got him inside and thawed him.

In addition to losing his fortune, his old friend and his son, Brainard lost most of his toes.

Half the livestock rounded up before the "Winter of the Blue Snow" in 1906-07 did not live to see the next spring.

The south and east - the Milk River country, the Cypress Hills - were hit hard. Blizzard after blizzard dumped two feet of snow on the plains and filled the coulees. When the snows receded, one Cypress Hills rancher found dead cows dangling a dozen feet off the ground in the branches of cottonwood trees. In the Battle River country, cattle were found standing frozen in snow over their backs. And even the farmers who could save their stock from starvation and misadventure often lost them to the sheer cold.

Among the most surreal scenes that year was the January day thousands of emaciated Bar U cattle invaded Macleod. The citizens looked out in horror as the doomed animals passed through, their hair and hide frozen off in large patches, knees skinned and bleeding from the snow crust. Moaning softly and piteously rather than bawling, the cows moved slowly past the hotels and stores to certain death on the prairie beyond. Town workers moved 48 carcasses off the street the next day.

When the snow melted in May, the ranches were left the task of clearing wasted, sinewy corpses off their land. On one ranch, the Gordon, Ironside, & Fares ranch near Gleichen, 211,000 head had died. The cattlemen that stayed in the business after '06-'07 knew they'd seen the worst Alberta had to offer.

(This story is one of hundreds appearing in "Alberta in the Twentieth Century," the magnificent 11-volume history of our province being produced, one volume a year, throughout the 1990s. You can see and purchase your copy of Volume 1, entitled "The Great West Before 1900," (292 pages with 279 great pictures) at your local Alberta Treasury Branch.)

The human body: an incredible machine

There's a lot more going on in your body than you might think. Below are some body facts you can share with your friends:

- To get from one side of the heart to the other, blood has to run through the entire body! It takes about sixty seconds.

- The hand is usually the same width as the length of the middle finger.

- Women tend to have thicker skin than men.

- Every pound of additional fat creates miles of extra blood capillaries throughout the body.

- As a rule, people who live in the most primitive environments enjoy the best-developed senses.

For example, eskimos can detect odors far more acutely than we can. Also, the African Bushman has both superior eyesight and hearing.

- Remember to brush your teeth as well as your tongue. It can reduce up to 90 percent of decay-causing bacteria in the mouth.

- Our bodies are asymmetrical. The right side of the face tends to be more developed than the left.

Because the left half of the brain predominates over the right half, most of us are right-handed.

- Human taste buds are more sensitive at sea level than at higher altitudes.

Going up in smoke

Good things happen at Didsbury High School

A few things unique to Didsbury High School to be proud of:

a) The Scholarship Program which is supported by contributions from local businesses and individuals. Last June $8,050 was awarded to grade 12 students who qualified by having at least a 65 percent average.

b) Last May, three grade 12 students sat for the Advanced Placement exam in English Literature and Composition. They had done English 30 and achieved 80+ marks, but they had no special preparation for the A.P. exam other than a review of the format and procedures. On a five point scale one received a 5 (the top mark, gained by only 9 percent of writers) one a 4 (16 percent of writers) and one a 3 (considered the cut off mark for university entrance).

c) CD ROM technology has become an important part of our library. Students crowd around the 'Mac' computer which is devoted to searching for information on many topics. One item accessible to students is the Grolier Encyclopedia which can give moving diagrams to explain things (e.g. heart function), or sound (animal noises), or news clips (e.g. the Hindenberg disaster). As well, Didsbury High School has recently acquired a modem which allows our library to access materials at the University of Calgary Library including their CD-ROM materials.

d) Athletics has been an integral part of Didsbury High School over the years. Recent successes in golf, where our girls captured the provincial championships, and curling, where our boys attended the provincial championships in 1991 and 1992, have complemented our other athletic triumphs. Didsbury High School has regularly won senior boys volleyball and senior boys basketball within the county. Also, twice in the last six years, Didsbury High School has played at provincials in volleyball and in 1992 the boys played in provincials in basketball. As well, Didsbury High School continues to win at the county level in both track and field and badminton.

All of the above can be attributed to a strong program of athletics within the school and the dedication and donation of many hours of teachers' time and resources.

From the Council table

Special to the Review

The Council has just passed two Phase I Development Agreements for residential lot development in Didsbury. One by Columbia Rail for six single family dwelling lots on 22nd Street and 12th Avenue. This will fill a large blank area and provide the town with some much needed residential development land. The second area will be on the old Reimer Industries property - seven lots along 14th Street. Eventually, it is hoped that the rest of the property will also be developed into residential development.

The town had applied for a CTAP grant to purchase land for new ball diamonds. The land was coming up for option - unfortunately this did not come through as expected and because the town does not have excess money to develop the diamonds, it was felt that ball diamonds would have to be put on hold. It has been discovered that the roof of the multi-purpose room is in bad need of repair right now and, in the future, the kitchen will be redone with a new coat area.

The town now has property for sale. The old pool property lots - four lots down by the hospital and the Habermehl house. These properties will be given to the local real estate agencies and future property sales will also be given to the real estate agencies on a rotating basis, to allow equal opportunity to our local businesses.

Didsbury library news

November is Amnesty Month at the library! Bring back your overdue books this month and there will be no fines, no matter how late they are.

Thank you to everyone who took part in the Body in the Library program in October, and in the Save Our School family program on October 30. We had a great time and judging from the comments we heard, so did you! The solution to who killed Ruby Keene is now available at the library.

Thank you to the Science Alberta Foundation for making this excellent program available to us, and a special thanks to our local sponsors, Kuelkers Mfg. Ltd. and Didsbury Drugs.
